Update on 14 March
2024

Saint-Brieuc Armor

Agglomeration, with a population of 150,000, is the main urban center of the Côtes d'Armor, ideally located between Rennes and Brest.

≡ The land, the sea, the future in common

Created in 2017 in its current configuration, the Agglo corresponds to the catchment area of the inhabitants of the 32 municipalities that make it up and their daily mobility.

The new inter-municipality must therefore be able to provide a high-quality, local service. This community of territories is made up of rural, coastal and urban areas. Each of them has its own identity, means to produce wealth and fragility, and all are complementary.
